Update on our ministerial vacancy

As you know we have been without a Minister this year since Steve's departure. Whilst we have been able to put the church profile together, lockdown has of course had a big impact on our ability to meet with prospective ministers, but we wanted to make sure you were up-to-date with where we've got to so far.

Following discussions with our Regional Minister, two candidates were put forward to us through the settlement process. The leadership team initially had discussions via zoom with both candidates and have then in the last few weeks been able to meet them both face-to-face at Church (with lots of social distancing and risk-mitigation measures in place!).

At this stage, through discussions as a team and with the candidates, it has been decided that we won't be taking either conversation further.

The nature of this process with other Baptist Ministers is one of exploration and discernment on both sides. It's therefore important we are respectful of their current appointments by not discussing those names amongst us.

Please do continue to pray for the Leadership Team as we seek our new Missional Minister!
